BOOKSTORE CHARGING

Academic Year 2012-2013

BOOKSTORE CHARGING AGAINST FINANCIAL AID

- Charging is allowed against Pell, SEOG, TPEG/TPEGN, Direct Loans
- Charging will not be allowed for any other fund besides the funds listed above
- The following dates have been set aside for charging.
    - Fall 2012---August 20, 2012--September 10, 2012
    - Spring 2013—January 7, 2013—January 28, 2013
    - NO charging will be allowed before or after posted dates
- Student must be registered for the term for which books are to be purchased
- Financial Aid must cover all current institutional costs on student account before charging books against financial aid will be allowed (excess financial aid must be available)
- Financial aid file must be complete, awarded and accepted
- If student has a Direct Loan, entrance interview and accepted master promissory note must be on file to be included as financial aid for charging purposes
- Books/supplies can be charged at only one location (Del Mar College Bookstore-on Campus)
    - Books can be reserved online—but must be picked up at the bookstore
- Students on financial aid suspension during the charging period will not be allowed to charge
- Any downward adjustment to financial aid award due to cancelling of classes, dropped classes or ineligibility may affect ability to charge. Student will be responsible for any charges previously charged to financial aid
- If student charges books to their financial aid and changes are made to their schedule and financial aid does not cover the total amount charged, the student will be responsible for any balance
- If student chooses not to charge their books/supplies or they miss the deadline to charge, balances for all the above financial aid will be issued after the official census date for the semester
- If student chooses to charge their books, balances will be issued after the official census date for the semester (reconciling with the bookstore must take place before balances are issued)
- Disbursement of balances for any of the funds not listed above will take place during scheduled disbursement times that will be established by Del Mar College (See Financial Aid Anticipated Disbursements)

NBriseno
Revised
06/18/12