

Thinking of Starting a Business? Start Here

Starting and running a business requires proper planning and preparation. Sometimes we attempt several business planning tasks at one time, only to find nothing gets done. An organized outline plan will guide us through general issues and items a business owner must address in starting, building and managing a successful business.

This seminar is designed for entrepreneurs and individuals who have never owned a business and are interested in learning how to start their own business.

A step by step instruction will help individuals determine the feasibility and organization of their business idea.
